PRINCE ARTHUR MAKES A FINE IMPRESSION

A Manly Young Fellow of Fine Physique and Worthy of His Lineage.

His Lineage.

OTTAWA, ONT., June 1.—Prince Arthur of Connaught has made a good impression on the people who have met him here and elsewhere throughout Canada. He is voted a manly young fellow of fine physique and manners worthy of his lineage. He has clear, honest eyes and the frank, fearless bearing of a soldler who is also an officer and a gentleman of high breeding. His features incline to the German side of the reigning family of Britain, much more so than his father's brother, his Britannic Majesty King Edward VII. During his visit to the capital he generally appeared at the various places to which he had accepted invitations in the ordinary dress of an English gentleman in mourning, wearing black for the late king of Denmark, the father of Alexandra, Queen of England. He punctillously uncovered his head and acknowledged the respectful salutation of the people with pleasant smiles and bows wherever he went. vith pleasant smiles and bows wherever

Kelly-Kenny Popular,

Kelly-Kenny Popular.

Gen. Kelly-Kenny, one of the entourage of his Royal Highnoss, received at government house a number of officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the capital, who formed part of the Canadian contingents in South Africa and fought under him. Nothing would please the South African veterans better than to see the General installed at Ottawa as the head of the Canadian militia. He is an ideal colonial soldier.

J. H. Hill's reported plans for extending his roads into the northwestern provinces and drawing off the cream of the grain trade to the American side have been mentioned several times in the parliamentary railway committes. The indications are if the Hill interests want any new charters, or effect given to old charters they control, but which may have lapsed, or require additional time to keep them alive, there will be a strong fight to defeat them on the part of the Canadian Pacific interests. In a general way, the Canadian Pacific interests are backed up by the opposition in Parliament, but find no great amount. ests are backed up by the opposition in Parliament, but find no great amount of favor among the party in power.

Favor American Railroads.

Government members, on the other hand, as a rule, are willing to see all the extensions into Canadian territory that the American railway interests care to make, so long as they do not deprive the National Trans-Continental Railway, otherwise the Grand Trunk Pacific, the International (government) Railway, the Canadian Northern, the Canadian government water transportation routes, which have cost the country so many millions—not far from $100,000,000, all told—of the traffic rightfully belonging to them. Leading men on the ministerial side recognize the impossibility of the Canadian transportation routes handling the increasing grain crops of the Canadian northwest for years to come, and that long before the new Canadian transcontinental roads are in full operation the growth of traffic between Canadian and United States points and of the grain shipments for Europe will call for all the facilities the American roads are likely to supply, in addition to those of the Canadian routes. # THE WADESBORO LYNCHERS BAILED

Held Under Bond of Five Thousand Each for Trial in Another County.

TWO TURN STATES EVIDENCE

The Sheriff's Daughter the Most Important Witness in the

(By Associated Press.)

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 1.—As the result of the preliminary hearing before Superior Court Judge Walter H. Neal at Wadesbore, sixteen men, charged with participating in the lynching of John V. Johnson, a white man, charged with killing his brother-in-law Monday morning, were at 6 o'clook this afternoon held in bonds of $5,000 each for trial at the next term of Superior Court of Union county, a neighboring county to that in which the lynching occurred. The order, signed by Judge Neal, recites that, after hearing the iviline, there is "probable grounds" to believe John Niven, Lester Johnson, Zeke Lewis, Elmer M. Dunn, John Jones, J. F. Dunn, May Gilledge, Lewis Adams, Jin Swink, Billy Dean, and Frank Graham "guilty of the offense charged against them under the statute of 1835, and they are admitted to ball in the sum of $5,000 each, to be approved by the sofictior, for their appearance at the next term of Superior Court of Union county for the trial of criminal cases, to answer to the charges set out in the warrants."

In default of the election of said bonds, the sheriff will commit them to the common jail of Union county.

"The probable grounds" were established upon the evidence of Miss Alice Borgan, daughter of the sheriff, who was in the jail when the mob entered; Sheriff Boggan, H. D. Kendall, Jr., Walter Meeks and J. L. Pratt. The two Kendalls turned said not vross-examine the witnesses and Rendail, Jr., Walter Meeks and J. L. Pratt. The two Kendalls turned states evidence.

The attorneys for the defendants did not tross-examine the witnesses and rested upon the State's case, and there was no argument. When Judge Neal inlimated that he would admit the sixteen prisoners to ball, John Bennet, retained by the government to assist the solicitor in the prosecution, objected, The solicitor late objected, but the judge adhered to his decision, holding that the cases were ballable.

The proceedings are under the law of 1893, known as the "act to protect prisoners from being lynched," etc., and provides that the judge send the cases to another county. Judge Neal stated that this was the strong point of the law, for if he held the men for murder he could not not remove the case, but would have to bind them over to the next term of Anson court, the county in which the lynching occurred.

The judge stated that there had been suggestions that witnesses had reason to fear personal violence, but he hoped the people would uphold the court, as the matter would be probed to the bottom.

H. D. Kendall, Sr., one of the mob who turned State's evidence, gave a dramatic rectall in court of the lynching, declaring that Zeke Lew's and Otis Martin were the ring leaders of the mob who took Johnson from the jail.

Counsel for the defendants made Kendall step from the stand and point out the men who were with the mob.

It required only an hour for the friends of the accused men to raise the amount stipulated for bail, the aggregate being eighty thousand dollars.

Under the statutes of 1903 the maximum penalty for lynching in this State is ill-teen years.

ner and contests begin prompt-BIG MOUNTAIN LION ly at one o'clock. One of the biggest mountain lions seen in Oklahoma for years, measuring over nine feet from tip to tip and weighing 175 pounds was killed in a cave in the Gyp hills, near here, by George Steuben-ville of Ckeene.

He came upon the lion unexpectedly, while exploring the cave with a party of friends, and was armed only with a 22 calibre revolver. It had been known for some weeks that a maurader of some sort, presumably a mountain lion, was playing havic with poultry and calves. It had been seen disappearing in the darkness several times, but no one had gone near enough to get a shot at it.

Steubenville was the only one of the party twho was armed at all when they came upon the beast, which was evidently prepared to put up a stiff fight. The cave was dimily lighted by a lantern carried by the exploring party, which made good markmanship difficuit, but Steubenville was fortunate enough to hit the panther in the eye, killing it justantly.—Okeen Correspondence of Kansas City Journal.
